Presidential Election.

From the returns we now have, of the late Presidential contest, the Hon. JAMES BUCHANAN, and Hon. JOHN C. BRECKENRIDGE, are elected President and Vice President of the United States beyond a doubt. The electoral votes of the States will stand as follows:

BUCHANAN.	FREMONT.
Virginia,.....15	New York,.....35
Kentucky,.....12	Maine,.....8
South Carolina,.....11	New Hampshire,.....5
North Carolina,.....11	Vermont,.....5
Georgia,.....10	Massachusetts,.....13
Tennessee,.....12	Rhode Island,.....4
Arkansas,.....4	Connecticut,.....6
Texas,.....4	Ohio,.....23
Florida,.....3	Michigan,.....6
Alabama,.....6	Illinois,.....12
Mississippi,.....9	Wisconsin,.....5
Missouri,.....9
Delaware,.....3	Total,.....114
Pennsylvania,.....27
Indiana,.....13	FILLMORE.
New Jersey,.....7	Maryland,.....8
Louisiana,.....6
Illinois,.....11
Total,.....170	California,.....4

California has no doubt gone Democratic, which will make the vote in the electoral college, 174 for Buchanan; 114 for Fremont, and 8 for Fillmore; being twenty-four more votes than is actually wanted to secure a choice.

In this election, fanaticism and disloyalty to our glorious Union, has received a rebuke that will never be forgotten, and the administration of James Buchanan will show to the world, that if for a time, our people are led astray by the treacherable acts and harangues of a few disappointed office-seekers, that the conservative spirit which characterizes us, will be ultimately victorious, and result in the election of none but true and loyal men to the Chief Magistracy of the nation.

Many are the surmises which we find in the leading prints of the day, but all accord in saying, that the administration of JAMES BUCHANAN will be one of a purely national character, and that sectionalism will find no friends in his cabinet, and we feel confident in predicting, that the country will be again restored to that peace and quiet, to which she has so long been a stranger.

The Charter Oak.

The Hartford Times says that relics of this historic tree, in form of canes, snuff-boxes, pieces of the wood, and even the acorns and leaves, are now in the possession of probably more than ten thousand persons in various parts of America. The desire to possess these precious mementoes is still as great as ever, and the well-known generosity and courtesy of the proprietor, the Hon. Isaac W. Stuart, have been severely taxed by the numerous demands made upon him by applicants for bits of the tree. Even on the noble old oak was surrounded by an eager crowd, all anxious to obtain some memento of the cherished object, and among them were persons from all the States but five in the Union. It may interest distant readers to know that the roots of the fallen tree "still live," and that upon the top of the rugged stump itself, at a distance of about ten feet from the ground, a new shoot recently appeared and grew to the length of some four inches; but we regret to be obliged to add that some soulless person, undoubtedly one of the class which Mr. Stuart well denominates "skulking vandals," was guilty of tearing it in the night from the place where it grew. There are now two tiny and doubtful shoots just sprouting from the hoary old stump, and the proprietor has been at the expense of erecting around the honored relic a high picket fence, to protect it henceforth from plundering intruders. A national flag, draped in the emblems of mourning, still floats over the old stump. Among the applicants for relics was Mr. Moore, a member of the Canadian Parliament, who wanted a specimen of the old oak for Queen Victoria. His request will undoubtedly be complied with.

Gov. A. H. Reeder.

We see by a late file of the "Herald of Freedom," published at Lawrence, K. T., that this gentleman has received the nomination of a Convention that assembled at Big Springs in that Territory on the 28th ult., as Delegate to Congress. It appears also that they do not intend to hold an election, but to circulate protests against J. W. Whitfield's election, and recommend A. H. Reeder as their Delegate.

A statue of Lagrange, the celebrated mathematician, is about to be erected at Turin where he was born.

Maj. Benjamin Perley Poore.

This gentleman is at present the subject of much newspaper talk, on account of the performance by him, of a feat in payment of a bet lost in the late Presidential election. Maj. Poore made a bet with Col. Barbeck, of Boston, that Massachusetts would cast her vote for Fillmore, the condition being that the loser should wheel a barrel of apples from his own residence to that of the winner, a distance of thirty-six miles. When the news of the thousands of majority in favor of Fremont, reached Newberryport, the gallant Major had to meet his responsibility, and on the morning of the fifth, set out behind his wheelbarrow and barrel of apples, for the distant residence of his lucky friend, in Boston.

On the road the Major was cheered by persons of all sexes and colors, who admired his manliness, in not flinching from his arduous task, even after he had been liberated from its performance, by Col. Barbeck. At Charlestown he was received by hundreds of citizens, and was escorted by the Fillmore Club to their headquarters, where they had provided a splendid repast, after which some time was spent in giving toasts in honor of the Major, which were loudly responded to, and the Major in return gave, "The health of the next President of the United States, whom all were bound to honor." During the time occupied by these proceedings, the crowd outside began to get very impatient, and the gallant Major favored them with a look at himself, and a few brief remarks, after which he took up his barrow and resumed his line of march, but had not proceeded far, when the word was given to halt, the barrow was dropped and the crowd busied themselves in complimenting our hero. Half an hour was spent in this way, when a delegation of several hundreds from Boston, made their appearance, and after a few preliminaries proceeded on the march, in the following order:

J. E. FARWELL, Chief Marshal.
Boston Cornet Band.
File of horsemen.
The Boston Fusiliers, Capt. Snow, and delegations from other Companies.
Banner, with the following inscription: "Ben. Perley Poore—May his faithfulness to his pledges be imitated by the next Administration."
Ben. Perley Poore, pushing his barrow of apples, flanked on each side, by a guard of honor, consisting of twelve citizens of Charlestown and Boston.

File of Horsemen.
Fillmore men on foot.
Barouche drawn by four horses, and containing the Grand Sachem, Ely. The Barouche was attended by a guard of honor.
Fillmore men of Boston and Charlestown in large numbers.

The procession had not advanced far, before it became evident to the guard of honor that they were unable to keep the crowd back, unless some other means was adopted; they accordingly procured a rope which they stretched around, and by this means they were enabled to proceed.

The arrival of the procession in Boston was hailed by thousands, and all along the route the greatest curiosity prevailed to see the Major and his load. On the steps of the Tremont House, Col. Barbank received the barrel of apples, and both gentlemen delivered congratulatory speeches mounted thereon, which was listened to by thousands.

The reception that Major Poore received in Boston, and the expressions of admiration that was made by thousands on his route, proves conclusively, that our people appreciate an honest action, and that all is to be gained by paying one's honest debts even at the sacrifice of personal comfort.

Kansas.

A Washington despatch says: It is now given out that Mr. BUCHANAN is in favor of the admission of Kansas as a Free State. "He has all along held to the propriety, if not the necessity, of this course, and the recent emphatic expression of public sentiment on the course of the Pierce administration, in regard to that territory, makes it, I assure you, a fixed fact in the policy of the new government. It was deemed injudicious by Mr. Buchanan's friends to avow this before the election; but now that the contest is over, and he is to be the next occupant of the White House, there is no hesitation in making it public, and talking about it, and canvassing its effects at the North and South."—Balt. Am.

The late Lord Gardstone, himself a valetudinarian, took the pains to inquire for those persons who had attested marvellous cures, and found that more than two-thirds of the number died very shortly after they had been cured. Sir Robert Walpole, Lord Rolinbroke and Winton, were killed by envenomings.

Death of Hon. John M. Clayton.

We regret to announce the death of the Hon. JOHN M. CLAYTON, at his residence in Dover, Delaware, on Sunday evening. Mr. Clayton had been suffering from illness for some months past. When Congress closed its session he was so ill as to be detained in Washington for some time. Recovering, he returned to his home, but has ever since been suffering with occasional periods of seeming convalescence. Only a week or two since it was announced that he was much better, and the hope of his entire recovery expressed. Mr. Clayton has been long in public life, and was held deservedly in high estimation as a sagacious, prudent and conscientious statesman. For many successive years, excepting a short interregnum in which he was Secretary of State under General Taylor's administration, he has represented Delaware in the United States Senate, and was at the time of his decease still a member of that body. With the exception of Gen. Cass, he had, we think held a longer connection with the Senate than any statesman now a member of it. During his connection with General Taylor's administration, the famous Clayton and Bulwer treaty was concluded; a treaty that has been much attacked, but which Mr. Clayton always defended, and the American construction of which has been lately conceded by Great Britain. Mr. Clayton's qualities of mind were vigorous, but not of the kind to attract attention by their brilliancy; his temperament was calm, mild and conciliatory, and perhaps no American statesman, who has passed through so long a term of public life, ever excited less of personal enmity towards himself.

Fire at Marietta, Ohio.

The Marietta Flouring Mill, owned by John O. Cram, was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday morning, Nov. 1. The fire ignited in the smut machine, caused by the rapid motion of the machinery, at 11 1-2 o'clock, and although every effort was instantly made to extinguish it, the flames rapidly ascended the elevators to the roof, and in fifteen minutes the entire building was in one mass of fire. About 200 barrels of flour, and 12,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed. Loss from $40,000 to $50,000. Insured for $5,000 only; $3,000 in the Etna, Hartford, and $2,000 in Washington County, Ohio, Mutual. It was one of the most extensive mills in the Ohio Valley, and its loss will cause great inconvenience to all classes.

Fire at Bellefontaine, Ohio.

A fire at Bellefontaine, Ohio, on Saturday night, Nov. 1, destroyed fifteen or twenty buildings, including the entire business part of the town. Among the buildings destroyed were the Post Office and Exchange Bank. The loss is variously estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000. There were no fire engines in the town.

Fire and Loss of Life in St. Louis.

Early on Saturday morning, Nov. 1, a small cabinet manufactory in the northern part of this city was burned. Ten of the employees of the establishment slept in the building, three of whom jumped from an attic window, but before the others could be rescued the front walls gave way and precipitated them to the cellar, where they perished beneath the ruins. The parties were Germans.

Steamship Merrimac.

One of the London papers, in alluding to this steamer, says:—"The American steam frigate Merrimac, now lying off Southampton, has created a sensation in this country—we would not be far wrong in saying that in certain quarters she has produced a panic. The aristocracy and flunkeyhood of England had no conception that the Republic could turn out anything half as formidable as this truly magnificent vessel. The Merrimac is but one of a series which the American Government is now building, and though only a frigate, she is admitted to be a match for any of our ships-of-the-line. There is not a navy in Europe that has a vessel which can compete with her."

Fatal Shooting Case.

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 5, Isaac C. Sherlock, a clerk in the employ of Walmer & Cloggers, dry-goods merchants in Market street, Philadelphia, shot Wm. Cloggers, one of his employers, at the junction of Seventh and Chestnut streets. Three balls took effect, and the wounds were mortal. The cause is reported to be an improper connection between the employer and the wife of the clerk. The latter gave herself into custody.

Election Riots.

We see by our exchanges, that the cities of New Orleans and Baltimore were battle grounds on the late elections. Several were killed in both cities, and many severely wounded.

NEWS ITEMS.

Chief Justice Taney is now in Washington, much improved in health by his recent trip.

It is estimated that over $150,000 worth of property was destroyed by the recent gale on Lake Ontario.

Mrs. Thorn, of Palo Alto, Michigan, hung herself and child because her husband refused to take her to a ball.

A woman has been fined $25 in Raleigh, for going to a fashionable soiree in a state of semi-nudity.

THE RIVAL RIFLES.—In England, there has been a trial of the comparative merits of the Minnie and Brunswick rifles. The result awards preference to the French rifle, which will henceforth be adopted by the British army.

Mendiola, the old guide who piloted Gen. Taylor through his campaign into Mexico, up to the battle of Buena Vista, died in Mercer Valley, Texas, a short time since, at the advanced age of ninety years.

A NEW PISTOL.—The Albany Times states that a pistol has been invented in that city which will fire ninety times per minute, carry a ball forty yards further than any pistol now in use, and that it is also much lighter and in every respect superior to Colt's celebrated pistol.

In Prussia, males are not permitted to marry under twenty-five, nor females under twenty-two years of age. In consequence of the operation of this law, M. Platow, of the chamber of deputies, says that during the last year every child born in the duchy of Mecklenberg was illegitimate.

LARGE TRAIN.—A stock train, consisting of 138 cars, loaded almost exclusively with cattle, was dispatched eastward over the Central Railroad from Rochester, N. Y., on Saturday evening of last week. Each car contained fifteen head of cattle. The receipts of the company for this train were $8,260.

A RELIC.—Edwin A. Smith, of Smithtown, Long Island, found in his corn-field whilst hoeing corn, in the summer, a beautiful gold coin of the reign of George I. It is in a state of perfection, a guinea, twenty-two carats fine, dated 1716. The field where it was found is not far from where the British troops were encamped during the revolution.

NAVAL.—At the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard, the Constitution frigate is to be thoroughly repaired, and fitted for sea, and the old seventy-four Franklin is to be turned into a steam propeller, with an entire new equipment of sails, &c. The Vandalia sloop-of-war is also to undergo an entire repair—all of which will give much employment to the mechanics of the vicinity.—[Norfolk Argus.

LOLA MONTES.—Madame Lola Montes closed her engagement at the Forrest Theatre, San Francisco, on Saturday evening. We learn that she will play an engagement, shortly, at one of the theatres in that city, after which she will retire from the stage. It is said that she has recently become deeply interested in religious subjects, and that she intends living hereafter a life of retirement.

SHOCKING AFFAIR.—About noon yesterday, a Mrs. O'Neil, living in Pine street, Frankford, Pa., went out, leaving her two children alone, and locking them in the house. The youngest, a girl two years old, was playing with the fire, and the latter communicating to her clothing, she was burned to death before assistance could reach her. The mother was rendered almost frantic by the shocking occurrence.—[Phila. Bulletin, Oct. 31.

MARINE HOSPITAL AT GALENA, ILLINOIS.—The Secretary of the Treasury has selected a portion of the east part of the south-east fractional quarter of section No. 24, as a site for this building, which he has purchased from Michael McCarty, Esq., for the sum of $5,025. The Attorney-General having reported favorably upon the title, steps will be taken for the prosecution of the work as soon as the Legislature of the State cedes jurisdiction to the Government.

A RIGHTEOUS JUDGE.—A young man was sentenced in Pittsburg, last Saturday, to six months imprisonment in jail, for assaulting another with "knucklers." His counsel, previous to the passing of the sentence, solicited leniency for his client, on the score of good character and gentlemanly conduct generally. The judge replied that it was fortunate for him that he was not indicted for an attempt to murder, and said when people with gentlemanly culture and good character performed such deeds, he should punish them as rowdies and ruffians. "The first gentleman of the land shall fare no better than the poorest man."

GALLANT BOYS.—About two weeks ago, two sons of Mr. J. S. Whitboite, of Monterey, in Owen county, Kentucky, one ten years old, and the other eight, rode their father's horse to the Kentucky river to water. The horse plunged in and attempted to swim across the river with both the boys upon his back. When near the middle of the stream they tried to turn the horse back toward the other shore. This made him capsize, and both the boys slipped off into the water, and the horse left them. As they slipped off, the elder said to the younger, "Hold on to me and I'll swim out with you." He did hold on, and the other actually swam ashore with him upon his back—dragging at the same time through the water a tin bucket which the younger had strung by the bail upon his arm. When was a more remarkable feat ever accomplished by a boy of ten years?

Washington "Union."

It is reported that arrangements are already in progress for the re-organization of the editorial force of this newspaper. It is in contemplation to have one editor from the North and another from the South, in view of Buchanan's Administration. Mr. Nicholson will retire on the 4th of March.
